

Journal of Retail Analytics Article Submission Guidelines and License

Thank you for your interest in the Journal of Retail Analytics.

Background

The Journal of Retail Analytics is a comprehensive quarterly publication that includes news and case studies regarding retail analytics, digital customer-facing technologies, and related topics. In addition, it examines trends in the use of retail analytics and details developments in the digital communications industry. Authors include industry thought leaders and leading academics, among others.

The Journal of Retail Analytics has an electronic distribution to more than 8,500 email addresses:

- 65 percent are end users including retailers, transit companies, and hospitality operators. Others include financial institutions, corporate networks, educational institutions, and public space venues such as stadiums.
- 25 percent are suppliers (including software and hardware firms, content suppliers, and consultants).
- 10 percent represent media outlets and others.

Approximately 60 percent of these individuals are based in North America and 30 percent are found in Europe, with 10 percent in other regions (Asia, Middle East, South America, and Africa). Back issues of the Journal are available for download on the PRI website.

Please observe the usage policies, license, and guidelines that follow.

Usage Policy

In submitting an article for publication, you agree to allow PRI to publish the article in the Journal of Retail Analytics, as well as in any other publication and in any other form that PRI may choose to publish the article, on a worldwide basis, including: print, on the internet, and/or in any and all other forms. In some versions we may use only parts of the article, and this also includes our right to display the article for promotional purposes, as well as to sell licenses to such articles. PRI owns any and all rights, title, and interest to any articles published, except as provided in the following sentence. If you are the article author, PRI hereby grants you the right to reuse it in any way you choose, but no sooner than THREE MONTHS FROM THE DATE OF PUBLICATION BY PRI, unless PRI staff has written the article on your behalf, in which case you may not republish the article in any form or by any means without the express written consent of PRI. In either case, you may not reference the Platt Retail Institute, the Retail Analytics Council, or the Journal of Retail Analytics in any republication by you without the express written consent of PRI. The Platt Retail Institute disclaims any and all liability arising from the publication of your material.
